Submitted to His Highness.

Mr. T. Dharmaraj Chetty, Assistant Commissioner, Revenue Survey, attains the age of superannuation on the 8th July 1923 and His Highness has been pleased to permit him to retire from service from that date. The Superintendent of Revenue Survey has on the 23rd January last, forwarded Mr. Dharmaraj Chetty's application for combined leave (privilege leave and furlough on full average salary) from the 1st February up to the date of retirement. In forwarding the application, the Survey Superintendent has stated that as the Special Akar work for coming settlement is now in full swing, it is not possible to relieve him immediately and has recommended that he may be permitted to take the combined leave after the date of superannuation.

The question was considered in Council on the 16th and the 24th instant when it was resolved that Mr. Dharmaraj Chetty may be given the privilege leave he is entitled to on the date of his superannuation, (i.e., two months and twenty one days).

Page to Office Note & F

It has become a practice for officers to apply for privilege leave and furlough when orders regarding their retirement are passed in the expectation that the Heads of Departments concerned in forwarding the applications would recommend the leave being granted after the date of superannuation, thus practically getting the services extended. This causes embarrassment. Under the standing orders, officers whose leave has to be sanctioned by Government are required to give intimation in January and July of every year of their intention of going on leave exceeding six weeks, during each half year. In order to avoid applications of the kind referred to orders will be issued requiring all officers intending to apply for leave in excess of six weeks to intimate to Government their intention of doing so not less than six months previously, or within the 15th January or 15th July of the preceding half year.
